

S.M.A.K. PAK SURVIVAL KIT

SUPPLEMENTAL INSTRUCTIONS

If you are being dragged along the ground by your parachute in high winds, and cannot get out of your harness or collapse the chute, cutting off a riser with the hook knife is your last chance to keep from being seriously injured or killed. The lanyard is very important in case you drop the hook knife while bouncing over boulders and cactus.

We encourage you to open up your SMAK PAK and familiarize yourself with the contents. However, if you pull out the hook knife lanyard, there is a specific way you must stow it to avoid it being severed when removing the knife from its pocket. Here's how to do it:

NOTE: This method works with all styles of SMAK PAKs.

First, DO NOT wrap the lanyard around the knife handle and shove it back in the pocket. If you have to remove the knife in an emergency, you will almost certainly cut the lanyard in half.

Step 1. Lay one fold of the lanyard across the opening of the small channel on the front of the SMAK PAK.

Step 2. Use a small screwdriver to push the fold all the way down into the channel. Continue this process of laying one fold at a time across the opening and pushing it in with the screwdriver until only a few inches remain.

Step 3. Insert the hook knife into the outer pocket and snap the yellow nylon tab in place. Stow the remaining length of lanyard as you did in steps 1 & 2 above.

Hook Knife can also be used as a seatbelt cutter.

SILVER PARACHUTES

Hayward, California

510-785-7070

www.SilverParachutes.com